BEST BET: Race 1 - #8 Swagger

With a drop in class and a speedy running style, this horse really does jump off the page. After winning two in a row, he took a big jump up to allowance optional claiming company last time out, and ran a very good second at GPW behind Zandar, an accomplished Brendan Walsh-trainee. Only beaten half a length, he'll drop in for the tag again today, but it looks to be in a spot where he'll be very successful.

LONGSHOT: Race 10 - #2 Make Big Money

Although she is stepping up in class, this mare's last two races have been very strong. She got the win two starts back, and was a good third last out in a race that produced two next out winners. Jose Batista has continued to ride in great form, and this horse has shown many dimensions in terms of her running style.
