BEST BET: Race 7 - #1 Deneb

Not only was the most recent race on a surface that is not to his liking, but Deneb was also taken out of a his comfort zone by being much more forwardly placed than he normally is. Getting back to his preferred surface and finding a race with plenty of pace to run at should be very much to his liking. He has to deal with the rail post position, but jockey Emisael Jaramillo should be able to work out a trip for this very consistent gelding.

LONGSHOT: Race 9 - #4 Beach Treasure

This colt had two solid races on the turf, and then ran a race that looks poor on paper. However, the colt had trouble in the race, and, given the fact that he is a closer, never got the chance to really get into the race. This should make him a bit of a better price, and since he has been working very well since his last start, I think is a nice value play in the nightcap.
