BEST BET: Race 7 - #3 Kylia Instinct
This mare is getting a drop in class after a freshening since April, and I feel that her class will set her apart in this race. She has faced some top competition, including multiple graded stakes winner Capla Temptress. She has tactical speed and will be forwardly placed in here, and should get a great trip and a chance to return back to the winners circle and get her confidence back up.

LONGSHOT: Race 4 - #5 Frank’s Legacy
This two year old Kantharos colt is making his second career start, and he also gets a drop in class from maiden special weight to the maiden claiming ranks. This should suit him well, despite the fact that he sold for $130,000 at OBS March. He also gets blinkers on for the first time, which I believe will help him out of the gate and to get in a better position during the early part of the race. Watching his first race again, as well as his breeze at the 2-year-old sale, he runs with a high-headed action that may be aided by the addition of blinkers. Hopefully that will help him find some more positional speed.
