BEST BET: Race 6 - #6 Global Entry

Getting a rider change to hot-riding Miguel Vasquez, Global Entry will look to make amends after a poor performance last time out. He was placed farther back than he usually is, and I think is most potent when he can get involved in the race early on. I do wonder if he wants to go a little longer than a mile, but he has a win at this distance and should sit a great trip right behind Chief Exchanger.

LONGSHOT: Race 1 - #9 He’s a Leader

Stuck with a far outside post in big fields in his last two races, this son of Gone Astray gets a better draw today and has been freshened since January 6. Taking a slight drop in class, He’s a Leader also gets in light with apprentice Reylu Gutierrez aboard. I hope he gets some racing luck today, and he’s sure to be a nice price.
