

RACE BY RACE ANALYSIS

By Acacia Courtney

Saturday, August 11, 2018

RACE 1:

2 - Changing Leads
3 - Wake Me Up At Noon
12 - Mason's Song

SELECTIONS: 2-3-12-1

RACE 2:

8 - Monja
6 - Two Diamonds
5 - Without Gems

SELECTIONS: 8-6-5-3

RACE 3:

4 - Cousin Newyork Fay
7 - Angry Cat
6 - Queen of Swag

SELECTIONS: 4-7-6-3

RACE 4:

10 - Scatnap
9 - Feed Me Carats
6 - Plein Air

SELECTIONS: 10-9-6-3

RACE 5:

6 - Night Rythm
5 - Sound of the Tap
3 - Our Sarge

SELECTIONS: 6-5-3-2

RACE 6:

3 - Union's Destiny
6 - Zaya
2 - Vegas Tycoon

SELECTIONS: 3-6-2-4

RACE 7:

3 - Topical Cognac
1 - Dig In
11 - Not Quite Ready

SELECTIONS: 3-1-11-5

RACE 8:

3 - K K's Revolver
1 - Global Hero
7 - Elastico

SELECTIONS: 3-1-7-2

RACE 9:

2 - Madame Uno
1 - Bitacora
6 - Treasure for Gold

SELECTIONS: 2-1-6-9

RACE 10:

3 - Star Juancho
5 - Soldollie
1 - It's a New Year

SELECTIONS: 3-5-1-2

RACE 11:

6 - Master Rory
3 - Forecasting
4 - Straightaway May

SELECTIONS: 6-3-4-10

RACE 12:

7 - Nonno Nino
9 - Gunship
10 - Erre Erre

SELECTIONS: 7-9-10-2

BEST BET: Race 5 - #6 Night Rythm

Trainer Peter Walder is 36% with horses going from turf to dirt when second off the claim, and finishes in the money 50% of the time. That's over the past five years, and the ROI is a juicy $3.55. I do think that this horse is better sprinting on the dirt, and he keeps Tyler Gaffalione in the saddle.

LONGSHOT: Race 7 - #1 Dig In

This colt seemed to really wake up when switching back to the turf last time out. I thought it was a solid race from him at a huge price, and he should offer some value again today. He drew the inside post, but given the distance of a mile and his late-closing running style, that's not much of a concern for me. Hopefully he gets some pace to run at.