BEST BET: Race 5 - #2 Italian Smile

Although there are some other horses with good recent form in this race, Italian Smile was so impressive last time out after being claimed by Gilberto Zerpa. Winning by 10 lengths to get her second career victory, she comes back in a logical spot, and also has natural speed. Not to mention, Zerpa bats at 32% for horses winning last time out on the dirt in low level claiming races.

LONGSHOT: Race 6 - #7 Davids Boy

This race looks like one that is crying out for a first time starter, and this 3-year-old Line of David colt seems to fit the bill. Being sent out by trainer Lilli Kurtinecz, Davids Boy seems to be debuting in a spot where he can be successful, and has jockey Emisael Jaramillo in the irons.
