

RACE BY RACE ANALYSIS

By Acacia Courtney

Sunday, July 23, 2017

RACE 1:

4 – Bar Libre (Ire)
3 – A Square to Spare
6 – Evil Twin

SELECTIONS: 4-3-6-9

RACE 2:

5 – Gunship
2 – Clean Mind
6 – Easter Vigil

SELECTIONS: 5-2-6-3

RACE 3:

1 – Extravagant Kid
2 – Brandy's Girl
6 – Moonwalker

SELECTIONS: 1-2-6-5

RACE 4:

7 – Knockout Ranger
8 – Market Strength
6 – Le Kybalion

SELECTIONS: 7-8-6-3

RACE 5:

6 – Dynamic Dancer
5 – Forman the Foreman
7 – Ring It In

SELECTIONS: 6-5-7-3

RACE 6:

1 – Bobby Ax
5 – Highborn
6 – Transistor

SELECTIONS: 1-5-6-4

RACE 7:

9 – Cosita Rica
5 – Indian Myth
11 – Raison Tiz

SELECTIONS: 9-5-11-6

RACE 8:

6 – Blonde Bomber
3 – Gabrielleelizabeth
4 – Denver

SELECTIONS: 6-3-4-2

RACE 9:

6 – Legendofthekitten
1 – Fist Bump
3 – Cunningham Creek

SELECTIONS: 6-1-3-8

RACE 10:

3 – Savoy Stomp
5 – Piloting
1 – Conquest Big E

SELECTIONS: 3-5-1-6

RACE 11:

8 – Hollywood Tomcat
1 – Weekend Appeal
3 – Viva Bertha

SELECTIONS: 8-1-3-12

BEST BET: Race 6 - #1 Bobby Ax

I don't usually pick a two-year-old as my best bet because there are still so many unknowns with younger horses and the presence of first time starters, but Bobby Ax is much the horse to beat in here. After getting out of the gate slowly in his debut on a sloppy track, Bobby Ax went right into stakes competition in the Kiss a Native, finishing a very good second behind Diamond Oops. While he does have to deal with the rail today, this half-brother to G2W Teufflesberg gets blinkers on and has the experience edge.

LONGSHOT: Race 9 - #1 Fist Bump

After a poor performance on dirt last time out, this filly where go back to the turf, where she has had some strong performances. Her grace two starts back was a tough one, as she was last early on and found herself with absolutely no room to run. Miguel Vasquez, who has ridden her in her last two, will be up again and is riding in very good form.