BEST BET: Race 3 - #6 Returntasenda

After a huge performance to be second two starts back, this filly had legitimate excuses last time out. She clipped heels early on and was running far out of the race, when she is normally a horse that likes to show some early speed. She gets Edgard Zayas in the saddle today (which is always a plus) and might even be able to control the pace.

LONGSHOT: Race 2 - #5 Tale is Told

This horse has only had one start on a fast main track, and it was against significantly tougher competition at the start of her career. She's making her second start for this barn, and Jose Batista gets the call. She looks like the type who will improve and meet the right field.
