BEST BET: Race 7 - #7 Son of Oahu

The wins have been a bit scattered for this gelding, but he finally gets back to the turf, and also gets some class relief. Not to mention, the Mark Casse barn has been winning up a storm lately and is batting at about 20% just at Gulfstream.

LONGSHOT: Race 4 - #2 Trini Pleasure

This filly's only win came on the synthetic up at Woodbine, so I'm hoping she will like the Gulfstream main track, especially after not taking to the local turf last time out. Trainer Kevin Attard added blinkers two starts back, and she also takes a drop in class today. In a race where the favorites have questions, she should be a nice price with a shot.
