BEST BET: Race 7 - #1 Love Sick Kitten

Despite being a 0-for-9 maiden, this colt by Kitten's Joy has never run for a tag before, and will be dropping into the maiden claiming ranks for the first time today. Not to mention, I think he has the potential to be the lone speed in this race under jockey Jose Ortiz, and should be able to dictate the pace from that inside post.

LONGSHOT: Race 1 - #2 Mosca

Although beaten at this level last time out, this colt was more than 100-1 and had a troubled trip on top of it. After dealing with traffic he finished a good third in a solid field. He won't be quite that same price today but he will offer some value for trainer Tammy Levy, whose horses have been running very well lately.
