BEST BET: Race 8 - #7 Madame Uno

This filly has the tough task of making it two in a row, but she also has the benefit of meeting the right field. She had an excellent trip last time out off a bit of a layoff, and was flattered when three horses from that race won next-out. She's been pretty consistent throughout her career.

LONGSHOT: Race 9 - #1 At Odds

You'll get a nice price on this second time starter, who is also stretching out in distance. I noticed in his debut that he had a lot of good size to him and would most likely improve with more ground. He got off a step slow last time out, and I think now, with some seasoning under his belt and that extra real estate, he should take a step forward.
