BEST BET: Race 9 - #1 Spotters Hill (Ire)

This colt sold for the US equivalent of $211,000 in Book 1 of the Tattersalls October Yearling Sale, and while I was very intrigued first time out, I thought he'd really move forward after having a start under his belt. He showed speed and ran a very strong second in his debut, and absolutely is the one to beat today. I'm expecting to see an even stronger performance today, and he is coming off a super sharp work up at Payson Park in preparation for this.

LONGSHOT: RACE 11 - #5 Proliferate

It's been one year to the day since we last saw this horse run, and that was a poor performance behind future graded stakes winner Largent. He does get a drop in class for his first start off the bench, running for a claiming tag for the first time. He also comes back as a new gelding. He was running some really good races back at the start of 2020 and I very interested in him coming back now at a price given all those changes.
