

JASON BLEWITT'S

Race Analysis

Sunday, June 23, 2019

RACE 1: 3 – 6 – 1 – 2

RACE 2: 4 – 10 – 1 – 9

RACE 3: 7 – 5 – 6 – 1

RACE 4: 4 – 2 – 1 – 3

RACE 5: 6 – 2 – 1 – 4

RACE 6: 1 – 7 – 8 – 2

RACE 7: 5 – 6 – 1 – 4

RACE 8: 4 – 5 – 1 – 2

RACE 9: 8 – 1 – 5 – 2

RACE 10: 8 – 7 – 4 – 2

RACE 11: 4 – 3 – 6 – 1

RACE 12: 8 – 5 – 3 – 4

Maiden Turf Caps the Week

The first weekend of South Florida's summertime racing season concludes Sunday with a 12-race card – and a first post of 12:50 ET. There's definitely some quality sprinkled throughout the program. In terms of a classy, high-level turf feature, look no further than the cast of stakes winners housed in the 8th race. Indeed, prior stakes success abounds among the resumes of Kroy, Driven by Thunder, Speed Franco, Uncle B, Galleon Mast and Swagger Jagger. And later on, there could be a future stakes winner (or three) lurking among the cast of race 12, a two-year-old maiden turf race at 7.5 furlongs. It's a 12-horse field that has seemingly sports something for everybody: there's a major four-horse rematch from a strong sprint run late last month as well as a bevy of first-crop stallions. And yes, Khozan, the Ocala-based wunderkind stud that has already blazed a trail of juvenile winners here at Gulfstream Park, has Where Ya Goin Owen on the rail for trainer Michael Yates. In case you're wondering, Where Ya Goin Owen is the third foal from the Gulch mare Flashy Flirt (she won three races: twice on synthetic and once over dirt.) Both of her foals were minor two-year-old winners over dirt. Meanwhile, Blazing Desire is part of a key May 26th rematch quartet. He ran well enough to finish a "with interest" third behind Remaster, who looked awesome in his 2-1 wire-to-wire triumph for trainer Wesley Ward. I believe Blazing Desire will appreciate the 2.5 furlong stretch in distance here late Sunday for trainer Patrick Biancone. Mr. Cesco exits that same Remaster race and might be a sneaky second-out longshot for trainer Antonio Sano (who also entered Carpe Diem firster Consilium with Edgard Zayas.) Mr. Cesco nearly went over the inside rail as he was shut off early by Kokomo.

GULFSTREAMPARK.com