RACE 1: 12 – 2 – 6 – 3

RACE 2: 3 – 1 – 5 – 8

RACE 3: 5 – 6 – 11 – 12

RACE 4: 11 – 12 – 2 – 4

RACE 5: 3 – 9 – 8 – 2

RACE 6: 3 – 2 – 5 – 7

RACE 7: 6 – 3 – 9 – 8

RACE 8: 3 – 7 – 6 – 5

RACE 9: 2 – 6 – 4 – 5

RACE 10: 4 – 5 – 10 – 3

Race 1: Generic Mark landed in a well, very generic looking spot for his first race since late July. Taking him in the Sunday opener as a new face for trainer Rusty Arnold, who has had solid success when paired with jockey Tyler Gaffalione in the past; clearly this is a barn that gives a leg up to Tyler G. when it's "go time."

Race 2: A one mile trip figures a pretty taxing / stamina questioning distance for this crew of $25k maiden claimers. The respectable form (two and three back) of Three Deep won me over in the end.

Race 3: I've admired Sugar Bolt's on-track ability as a speedy and (mostly) consistent Florida-bred turf sprinter by Can the Man. Sure, she's taking a sizable, almost precipitous drop here in the 3rd ($16k claiming) but she's a state-bred filly without an available restricted allowance condition. Aggressive placement wins races and that's what I think is going on here with trainer David Fawkes and Emisael Jaramillo. Come and catch her.

Race 5: This field is teeming with questionable recent / overall form and (just like the 2nd race field) I think a one mile trip over the dirt is a giant question mark for the majority of this cast. So, here's hoping the 1/17 Kaufy Futures chugs along and gallops everyone else into submission at what figures a decent price. She's not flashy but I feel as though the distance and competition both help her in this 5th race.

Race 6: Sweden's last race doesn't look too pretty on paper but keep in mind she was a big price in a field that was eons tougher than this one. Also, I like how well she's run in 8-furlong races to this point (context is key) and that stamina along with her ability are likely to help her against this field of Florida-bred maidens. Carolyn's Smile exits the strongest last-out performance but does she run back to that effort? Also, will 7 furlongs be pushing it in the stamina department?
