

JASON BLEWITT'S

Race Analysis

Wednesday, June 5, 2019

RACE 1: 7 – 6 – 4 – 3

RACE 2: 7 – 6 – 5 – 1

RACE 3: 2 – 4 – 7 – 3

RACE 4: 4 – 5 – 7 – 2

RACE 5: 6 – 5 – 7 – 1

RACE 6: 8 – 9 – 7 – 3

RACE 7: 6 – 7 – 8 – 3

RACE 8: 9 – 5 – 7 – 8

Special Wednesday Card Starts Belmont Week

Hope you're ready for a brand new and promise-filled, five-day racing week at Gulfstream Park.

Wednesdays are typically 'dark' here in the spring and summer months but horseplayers will find an 8-race GP program waiting for them. It's a card rife with opportunity as well as one split evenly down the middle: there are four turf races as well as a quartet of main track puzzles. Naturally, GP's jackpot Rainbow 6 pool, with its robust and ever-growing $1.97 million carryover, will grab most of the attention. Wednesday's Rainbow 6 begins earlier than normal in race 3. Race 5 is absolutely worth a closer look, given the fact that it is one of those two-year-old maiden claimers that sports little previous form. In fact, this particular 50k maiden claiming field is heavy in the first-time starter department with five total runners. Russian Resort and Rebelde are the only two in the field with prior raceday experience. Rebelde looks at least 25 lengths better on paper. Unfortunately for Rebelde, this isn't a simple match race with Russian Resort; he is likely to face at least one or two firsters that can run a little at this 50k level. Flaming Hot will likely go favored as a well-connected Khozan for trainer Kathleen O'Connell. There is a lot to like here, including the presence of leading jockey Edgard Zayas (55 wins) and the fact that Flaming Hot hails from a very solid dam in Arealhotlover, by Untutable. Her offspring have been all business as young horses as four of them won during their respective two-year-old seasons! Moreover, Arealhotlover scored two on-track wins during her juvenile campaign about a decade ago.

Rainbow 6 Carryover:

$1,977,432

First-Race Post is 1:15 p.m. ET*

GULFSTREAMPARK.com